ANNOUNCEMENT.

PRATT—We are authorized to announce Judge Clifton J. Pratt, of Hopkins County, as a candidate for the nomination for Governor of the State of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We note the arrival of the Whitely Republican, of Williamsburg, on our exchange table. Glad to acknowledge new friends, especially Kentucky Republican papers.

The Burkesville Herald, one of the Kentucky papers that gets the local news and prints it well, is now among our exchanges. There is many a local paper that could get pointers from the Herald.

We acknowledge with pleasure the receipt of the Corbin News among our exchange this week—a live, newsy, well-printed paper for the home people, that proves itself worth its subscription price and doesn't give itself away as a premium for another paper.

GEN. JO. WHEELER will be in Louisville shortly. "Fighting Jo" was slightly snubbed by some still bitter rebels at Charleston who envied his recent glorious war record, but he will get the most open-hearted hospitality at the Kentucky metropolis, the place of the next Confederate Association.

EDITOR WALTER FORRESTER has grown to be such a cucumber-pickle iconoclast and makes such crooked faces at everybody all in the same grimace that he is almost unquotable but he does say truth when he declares that "Judge Pratt with a united party would be a stronger candidate than Taylor."

Have you heard the expression, "Administration candidate?" It sounds rather queer to be used or suggested by Republicans in this day of united praise and support accorded by all Republicans and very many Democrats and others to the wise and successful administration of President McKinley. If any candidate is a Republican he cannot be otherwise than the strongest sort of a supporter of the National administration.

The Grayson Eagle published at Leitchfield, one of the best papers in the State, contains the announcement of Judge Clifton J. Pratt for the Republican nomination for Governor and reproduces in full both of The Bee's editorial write-ups of that gentleman, who is just now making things so interesting for the other aspirants for gubernatorial honors. And The Bee has advice from another source that Judge Pratt's announcement is being given a kindly reception in Grayson.

We publish in this issue a complete program of the State Commercial Convention which is to be held at Louisville, May 29 and 30. Hopkins county and Earlinton will be well represented in this important convention and all other parts of the State should and probably will be represented. This is the second meeting of the kind held in Kentucky and great good to the State's material interests is expected to be the outcome of this united action on the part of her most progressive citizens. Each Mayor of a town or city and every county judge will be asked to attend and to name a list of delegates to represent with themselves their respective towns and counties.

The Elizabethtown News has published affidavits stating that Garrett Groves, who posed in the Frankfort Railroad Convention in the interest of McChord's candidacy, as the hero who received $400 for his vote, from Chailey Sommers, is not such a lily-white in morals as would best befitted the roll he played. The affidavits state that Graves last year refunded twenty-five dollars that he acknowledged having stolen while acting as gate-keeper of the Taylor county Fair in 1896. But Graves' grandstand play afforded temporary relief to Candidate McChord and that is all he desired. In this incident history has simply repeated itself and proves again that the man who poses as a bribe-taker for the purpose of trying to convince the public that he is a bribe-catcher will stand watching.

The Goebel Program.

Walter Forrester, as adept in names and phrases as a dictionary, now refers to Goebel as the "sallow-faced Pennsylvania Dutchman," and says with truth that "Goebel is playing a desperate game to defeat the will of 80 per cent of the Democrats of Kentucky through his machine." He figures out the rest of the program as follows:

The scheme is to send Stone delegations composed of Goebel men from Western Kentucky. Through the first three districts, Goebel has all the Court House cliques for him, and they will win unless the farmers come into the primary and assert themselves.

If Goebel can win the Democratic nomination it will mean the ascendancy of the Courier-Journal in Democratic councils and a delegation to the next National Convention with Bill Hildeman and Zach Phelps at its head, that will repudiate Bryan and Free Silver and join with Croker and the Eastern gold-bugs. If that is what the Kentucky delegates are going to go against they have nobody to blame but themselves for the throw-down that is coming to them.

Goebel's Democrats.

Mister Goebel is again just another sort of an old Democrat. He don't like a Hardin Democrat a little bit. And there ain't but one kind of Democrat he has any use for—that's a Goebel Democrat. Mr. Goebel says he is fond of Bryan Democrats but that isn't what he means. Goebel-Bryan Democrats make a little nearer the mark. But there is only one "real thing," the unadulterated Goebel Democrat; the man who believes the Goebel election machine is all powerful to win and who wants to be in the band wagon; the wire puller and ringster who aspires to be in the league to dominate his party and to be in at the division of the spoils; to get the offices and to hold them at any cost—to the citizenship and the material interest of the State. Nothing counts with Goebel in this race but Goebel's success. He is as cold blooded about his campaign as he has been notoriously cold blooded in all his past acts. His well laid plan is that Goebel succeed it all else perish.

The Candidates.

Attorney General, W. S. Taylor, is now an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Kentucky. General Taylor is an able man, a good campaigner and would make an excellent governor. He has many friends, deserves much credit and The Bee esteems him highly. But in the present emergency the Republican party in Kentucky needs to unite on the man who can carry the strongest vote at the polls in November, the man who can come the nearest winning or can win by the largest margin. Viewed from this, the only plausible standpoint for Republicans to assume, it is conceded on all sides that Judge Clifton J. Pratt, of Hopkins County, occupies a unique position. He is popular with people of all political faiths and by his career as a man and a jurist will command the support of many outside the Republican party and the united and enthusiastic support of Republicans. The colored voters are for him as one man. His record is such that all Republicans can and will give him their enthusiastic support at the polls. He is the strong man to win in the race against the Democratic nominee—therefore the logical candidate. For these reasons The Bee is strongly in favor of the nomination of Judge Pratt. He is a clean, able Republican against whom no charge of factional alliance or feeling can be lodged and hence a man upon whom all can unite. With such a candidate and such a uniting only can factionalism in Kentucky be buried, and through such burial only can harmony and victory be attained.

The Bee is for Judge Pratt, first because he is the type of man in whose nomination alone is offered Republican harmony and victory. Personal esteem and friendship and the fact that he is a Hopkins County man are entirely secondary considerations. Let there be harmony and fair play, whatever else, and let us nominate a candidate who will have a strong chance to win.

The Republican Nomination for Governor.

From the Louisville Commercial.

The announcement by Attorney General W. S. Taylor that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor has been anticipated for some time, but the news that this announcement has now been made will not be less interesting to the Republicans of Kentucky, because it appears at a later date than had been expected. Unquestionably Attorney General Taylor will be a factor of great consequence in Republican politics this year and that he will come to the State convention with a large following does not admit of doubt.

kins county, has previously announced his candidacy, and it is evident from the friendly expressions concerning it in widely separated sections of the State that he will also have a large and enthusiastic following. Hardly a doubt exists that State Auditor Sam H. Stone will still further swell the list of candidates by authorizing the use of his name in connection with the gubernatorial nomination, and if he does so it will be conceded that three of the strongest men in the Republican party in this State will have entered the contest for leadership this year.

To the Commercial all this appears to be a matter for general Republican congratulation. The fact that three strong and ambitious Republicans desire to make the canvass for governor of Kentucky this year, and that others may yet announce their candidacies for the same honor, is one of the convincing indications of Republican success at the polls. Under these conditions we look for the holding of a State convention made up of earnest delegates from every county in the State, and all aroused to a high pitch of enthusiasm for the nomination of a strong Republican ticket and for the work of the campaign that is to follow.

No harm to the best interests of the Republican party can possibly result from vigorous rivalry for party favor. With a number of candidates in the field for almost every place on the Republican State ticket it is certain that the State convention will be a thoroughly representative body, and in the hands of such a convention the welfare of the party is safe. The Republican masses will accept the judgment of such a convention without question and they will rally to the support of the candidates it names with the vigor and enthusiasm that swept a Republican administration into power four years ago.

Davies County Convention.

From the Lexington Leader.

The Republicans of Davies County acted wisely on Saturday in adjourning their county convention without electing delegates to the state convention and adopting a resolution requesting the county committee to call precinct meetings on June 24 to elect delegates to a county convention on July 1, twelve days before the state convention, in Lexington.

It was a mistake to call a county convention on only a week's notice, ten weeks before the State convention, and before the candidates likely to be voted for had had a chance to announce, and Republicans over the state feared that it meant a renewal of last year's provoking split in the party in the second district. The party managers at Owensboro seemed to have realized that they were acting with too much haste and the leaders of the rival factions happily came to an amicable agreement to postpone action for two months in order to give the masses of the party an opportunity to consider the claims and availability of the candidates for state officers before electing and instructing delegates.

It is a matter of gratification that our Davies county friends so readily recognized the injury that might be done the party by a hasty convention and took the initiative in ordering a postponement. It is entirely possible that the result of the Davies county convention two months hence will be exactly what it might have been last Saturday, but it will leave a better taste in the mouths of Republicans all over Kentucky. There is too much at stake in the coming campaign to have republican chances jeopardized by anything looking like snap conventions or unfair political methods. Let every candidate have fair play and an equal chance and every republican a respectful hearing in the coming county and state conventions and we shall have dealt a death blow to factionalism in Kentucky.

The Leader cares more for decent politics than it does for factions or individuals, and believers that the course it has outlined will result in glorious victory in November.

Charity of Speech.

Charity of speech is as divine a thing as charity of action. To judge no one harshly, to mispronounce no man's motto, to believe things are as they seem to be until they are proved otherwise, to temper judgment with mercy—surely this is as good as to build up churches, establish asylums and found colleges.

Unkind words do as much harm as unkind deeds. Many a heart has been wounded beyond cure, many a reputation has been stabbed to death by a few little words. There is a charity which consists in withholding words in keeping back harsh judgments, in abstaining from speech if to speak is to condemn. Such charity hears the tale of slander, but does not repeat it; listens in silence, but forbears comment, thus locking the unpleasant secret up in the very depths of the heart. Silence can still armor and lends it vigor.—Humane Journal is exactly what they require; it not only gives them the important element (cod-liver oil) in a palatable and easily digested form, but also the hypophosphites which are so valuable in nervous disorders that usually accompany anemia.

It's Easy To Take

Thin, pale, anemic girls need a fatty food to enrich their blood, give color to their cheeks and restore their health and strength. It is safe to say that they nearly all reject fat with their food.

FROM MANILA,

Orlean Pritchett Writes a Very Interesting Letter.

Well Fixed and Having a Good Time When He Wrote.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Orlean Pritchett, of Madisonville, who is stenographer for Gen. Lawton in the Philippines. It was written from Manila under date of March 24 and is addressed to a friend who kindly permits The Bee to reproduce those parts of it which are of interest to Orlean's many friends hereabouts. Here it is:

HEADQUARTERS FIRST DIVISION EIGHTH ARMY CORPS.

MANILA, March 24th, 1899.

Of course as you well know, I left Hualuvis with General Lawton, enroute to the Philippines about January 3d, remained in Washington until the 15th, went to New York and sailed on the good ship "Grant" to the "Pearls of the Orient."

We had rather a rough voyage across the Atlantic, and not a few of us were the "sick of the sick," but by the time we arrived in sight of the Rock of Gibraltar, all were well and were anticipating with great pleasure our stop at that point. After being quarantined for a couple of days, we were allowed to go ashore and such a time we did have, beyond my power to place on paper. Everybody enjoyed themselves very much.

From this point we sailed through the Mediterranean to Port Said, Egypt, thence through the Suez Canal to Suez City. The canal goes through "Bitter Lake" and at Ismailia, in same, is the place where the children of Israel went across on dry land. (Bible scholar, say!) Going through the Red Sea we saw Mount Sinai. We stopped next at Perim Island, Colombo, and Singapore. In all of these places we went ashore and had a most enjoyable time, visiting many interesting places. The cities were all very fine, having many fine buildings, parks, etc., especially, Colombo, where the buildings are as fine as you see anywhere.

At 10 o'clock, s. m., March 10th, we sailed into the harbor of Manila, fired a salute to Admiral Dwyer, some being duly answered by him. We had 1,935 passengers aboard, including officers, officers' families, soldiers and civilians, and all were landed in the best of health and spirits. We had an exceptional voyage, going 13,500 miles without the loss of a single life or an hour's delay except in coaling and resupplying the ship.

We got ashore right soon and for five or six days did nothing but run around and look at things, then were assigned to the 1st Division, Eighth Army Corps, temporarily.

Manila is a very pretty place, parts of it being divided into the old and new, the old being surrounded by high walls and moats, buildings very low, streets narrow; while the new is more modern, has wide streets, many fine buildings, parks, street cars, electric lights and looks more and more every day like an American place, as the old Spanish signs come down and American ones are placed in their stead.

The Escolta is the principal business street and the Luneta is the fashionable drive and walk along the Bay front. Here every evening you see the society people driving and walking in droves, the bands playing, people strolling, and, in fact, it is a very pleasant and nice place to visit.

There are some five or six hundred thousand inhabitants, consisting of natives, 60 per cent.; Chinese, 30 per cent, and the other 10 per cent, all natives of the earth. The natives seem to be very poor, the Chinese are a little better, but the Chinese are all engaged in business, and you can get anything from a needle to a barbed machine, at reasonable prices; you might say cheap.

The money used is chiefly Mexican and is only worth .474 per dollar, so when you get a ten or twenty dollar bill changed, you have to get a wagon to carry your money in.

The women all have a very peculiar dress, (doubtless a very fine thing for this climate) but I will have to get you to wait for the description until I can make myself more familiar with the articles.

The climate, so far, has been very nice indeed, a little warm, but nothing to compare with what I expected. There is but little sickness and the sanitary conditions, generally, are very encouraging.

The other clerks and myself have rented a house, have two Chinamen cooks, and we are getting along all right.

I will not say anything of the fighting that is going on, because you see it in the papers before we even hear it. Anything you see, however, you may know that it is greatly exaggerated.

I would give anything in the world to have a glimpse of you and some of my other friends back in old Kentucky, but I guess I will be quite awhile before anything like this happens.

Yours very truly,

ORLEAN A. PRITCHETT.

Purity is Power.

The rose, among the sweetest and most beautiful of God's creations, is armed with thorns, nature's sharp bayonets for warding off attack. Purity is the defense of beauty; modesty is the safeguard of innocence. The severe chastity which repels familiarity is as absolutely essential for the safety of the soul as genial attractiveness is for its beauty.—A. J. Gordon.

The Life Within.

All as God wills, wisely heads To give or to withhold And knoweth more of all my needs Than all my prayers have told.

Enough that blessings undeserved Have marked my happy track; That where'er my feet have swerved His chastening turned me back.

That more and more a Providence Of love is understood, Making the springs of time and sense Sweet with eternal good.

That death seems but a covered way Which opens into light, Within no blinded circle can stray Beyond the Father's sight.

That care and trial seem at last, Through memory's annals past, Like mountain ranges overpast, In purple distance laid.

That all the jarring notes of life Beom blending in a psalm And all the angles of its strife Slow rounding into calm.

And so the shadows fall apart, And so the world wears its crown And all the windows of my heart I open to the day.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Chester, Pa., May 13.—In trying to imitate the Wild West lasso throwers he had seen in a show here, Frank Beaumont, a lad, met a terrible death. The youth stationed himself on the Reading railroad, and as a train came thundering by the boy threw his lasso, caught the engineer, who was leaning out of the cab window, about the waist and rendered him helpless. Beaumont had the other end of his lasso tied about his waist, and being unable to untie the rope, was drawn under the train and killed.

Zerbe and Thomas have constructed what they denominate a sand dome. It is an elevator 15 feet high, and compressed air forces the sand to the top of the elevator after the sand is thoroughly dried. The dome stands beside a switch, and engines are run under the dome and the sand is run into the tank by gravity.

$3.50--SHOES--$3.50

We have been talking to the readers of The Bee about Hosiery for a week now, and that the impression that we handle this very important factor of every family's wardrobe exclusively, may not force itself upon them, we shall call their attention to our superior stock of Shoes. We carry Shoes at nearly every price from $5.00 down to 25c. We would call special attention now to our $3.50 Men's Shoes for this Spring. We have bought this priced Shoe in Chrome Calf, Vici Kid and Glazed Kangaroo. In Chrome Calf we show a medium light Blucher, built on B. and C. lasts, Essex toe, tipped. Out of Vici we had made a chock top and bottom, Norfolk toe, tipped. Glazed Kangaroo is black stock, this we are using instead of Vici. The manufacturer claims this stock is equally as lasting as Vici (which is saying enough) and will not peel or scar near so easily.

We show Glazed Kangaroo with top and bottom both made of this new stock, and with handsome vamping top too. These are built on C. and D. lasts, Charleston toe, tipped. Each one of these easy wearing, stylish appearing, durable Shoes, is a Hal (heel) Goodyear well, which assures as much ease and elegance as a hand-sewed Shoe, for much less money. We do not claim these are the BEST $3.50 SHOES in the wide wide world, but we do affirm they have no superior, or, sell them for GOOD SHOES—when we say this is a good Shoe we mean just that. If we should accidentally be mistaken we stand just behind our promise. Where do you buy your Shoes? Have you ever tried us? If not, why? We are awfully anxious to sell you all your Shoes Try Us.
